

MAYOR-ELECT GIVEN DINNER

In recognition of their appreciation of the kindly and courteous treatment they have been accorded by their employer, the attaches of the wholesale and retail bicycle and automobile supplies store, tendered Mayor-elect Shroyer a dinner at the Beckel hotel Monday night, 34 of them participating and extending to their employer their heartiest and best wishes for a successful career at the head of the controlling body of the city of Dayton during the next four years.

The affair was perpetrated as a surprise upon Mr. Shroyer, but it was marked by such a spirit of good fellowship, congeniality and enthusiastic solicitation for the future welfare of their employer that marked it as an occasion of more than ordinary significance.

Mr. Shroyer was altogether unaware of the plans that were being made, and while he was visibly affected by the splendid good feeling that prevailed among his employes, he succeeded in recovering his composure sufficiently to express his gratitude for the inspiring manifestation. Each of the participants also spoke briefly, expressing their appreciation of the courteous relationship that had been exercised toward them by the mayor-elect during their connection with his establishment.

The function was promulgated by Harry Shardelow, who has charge of the bicycle and motorcycle departments, and who is one among those who have been longest associated with Mr. Shroyer in a business capacity. Mr. Shroyer, when the time came for closing the activities of the day was asked to accompany the employes to the Beckel hotel and when he arrived
